Rules of the Game

PLAYERS

2 or more players or teams can play this game at one time.

TO START

All players place their pawns at the "Start" sign on the playing board. Before the game is started, the cards should be shuffled and placed beside the playing board. The players should decide among themselves who will start the game.

TO PLAY

The player who starts the game begins his or her game by advancing the pawn one step and answering the question for the category he or she has advanced to. If the answer is correct the player moves to the next square, but incase the answer is incorrect the player stays at the same square. With this his or her turn is over and the play moves to the next player. And the game continues in the same way until the end. However, if a player is unable to answer correctly at two successive turns from the same square, he or she in his or her next turn gets the chance to pick any card from the pack and answer the question from any of the three categories. If he or she answers correctly she moves to the next square otherwise in the next turn also she again gets the chance to answer question in the similar fashion. This can go on turn wise until he or she answers the question correctly and moves to the next square.

THE WINNER

The winner is the player who finishes the game first.
